Dear Mt. Mahogany Families,

Happy April! We are now three weeks into online instruction, and although it is not perfect, we feel like things are going well and couldn't do it without your continued help. During these uncertain times, it is so comforting and reassuring for us to know our students are continuing to learn and grow with your help. We miss them immensely and hope to see them again soon. Thank you for helping your children maintain consistent participation in whatever activities and learning resources they are sent. Our teachers are working hard to stay as connected to students and families as they can, and we applaud them for their tremendous efforts. We will continue to send out updated information and add it to our Family Information and Updates Page.

Here are a couple of links we would like to share with you this week.
